

Boastful Goering On Stand Today At Nuernberg

By DANIEL DE LUCE
Nuernberg, Germany, March 13 (AP)—Lecturing his Allied judges as if they were school-boys, Hermann Goering testified today that Adolf Hitler seized power in 1933 "to make Germany free."

The leader among the 22 Nazis on trial for war crimes boastfully emphasized his own importance in snatching control for the Nazi party and asserted that an army plot against Hitler was barely averted a few hours before the first Hitler cabinet took its oath 13 years ago.

The former Reichsmarshal, dressed in a baggy, undecorated gray uniform with a red scarf about his neck, charged that the military plot was instigated by Gen. Kurt Von Schleicher—slain the following year in the Ernst Roehm blood purge—and Gen. Curt Von Hammerstein-Equord, former commander of the German army, with the help of the Potsdam garrison.

Tells Of Medals
The prompt return of Gen. Werner Von Blomberg from a disarmament conference in Switzerland and his nomination as Minister of War fouled the plotters, Goering said.

He started his testimony by telling of his career that started three decades ago in the Richthofen air squadron.

While his white-haired attorney slowly questioned him, Goering mentioned the medals he had won and a wound sustained in fighting for the Kaiser's Reich.

The court was packed for the dramatic moment of the three and a half months trial as the once flamboyant Reichsmarshal took his place before the microphone.

Pauley's Name Is Withdrawn

Washington, March 13 (AP)—President Truman today withdrew the nomination of Edwin W. Pauley, California oil man, to be undersecretary of the navy.

The President acted at Pauley's request. He said Pauley's defense of his "good name" has been "valiant and conclusive."

In a letter, Mr. Truman told Pauley that he "met the challenge" of his nomination "with facts" and added:

"You answered prejudice with a complete and forthright resume of your career and with an amazing patience under continued misrepresentation."

The first announcement of the withdrawal came from Chairman Walsh (D-Mass.), of the Senate Naval Affairs committee after a 30-minute closed session of the group.

At the same time, Walsh handed reporters a statement declaring that the committee "commends" Pauley "for his patriotic action in requesting the President to withdraw his nomination."

Accord Near In GM Strike

Detroit, March 13 (AP)—General Motors and CIO United Auto Workers negotiators were nearing an agreement on the issues that have kept 175,000 production workers idle in the 113-day-old strike, authoritative sources disclosed this forenoon.

As a negotiating session that began yesterday afternoon continued today, a corporation official who asked that his name not be used, told newsmen that agreement had been reached on the wage issue and that "a few other non-economic issues" remained to be resolved.

The official did not say whether the wage agreement was on the basis of an 18 1/2 cents an hour increase as offered by the corporation or the 19 1/2 cents an hour rise demanded by the union.

Another management source, asking not to be quoted by name, said the negotiations now in progress contemplated a definite settlement of the entire dispute and "not just another deal." He did not elaborate.

BULLETINS

Batavia, March 13 (AP)—A beleaguered British supply column, stalled by three days of sharp fighting between Buitenzorg and Bandung, has been joined by a tank column which followed it from Buitenzorg and is making slow progress between Sookaboomi and Bandoeng, a British communique said today.

Washington, March 13 (AP)—John L. Lewis, demanding that bituminous coal operators create a health and welfare fund for coal miners, disclosed today results of a union survey of the miner's position under present workmen's compensation laws.

VARIETY SHOW HERE FRIDAY

"This Is New," a variety show presented by a group representing business, professional, and collegiate groups of Lancaster, will begin its run of performances in colleges of this area in Eddie Plank Memorial Gymnasium at 8:30 o'clock on Friday evening.

Instrumental music, singing, dancing, and the "the more legitimately dramatic" are to be combined in this new amateur production, which will be brought to the campus by the special events committee of the Student Christian Association. The show will revolve around a story of a returning serviceman who tries not to make up his mind on women until he has "played the field."

Henry K. Haines, a student in Lancaster, is director and producer of the musical revue, and co-stars with Robert Moore, a radio engineer of Lancaster, and Jean Aumen, a stenographer, also of that city. Moore is choreographer and principal dancer, and Miss Aumen is a featured vocalist. Rounding out the cast will be Helen Brubaker, Clayton Moyer, and Marilyn Schutte, as supporting actors, and a chorus of seven.

The price of admission will be 35 cents. Tickets may be procured from members of the special events committee or in the gymnasium on the evening of the production.

Trout Streams In County Stocked

Several thousand legal size, "ready for the pan" brook, rainbow and brown trout have been placed in Adams county streams by the Adams County Game and Fish association, in preparation for the trout season which opens April 15.

The trout were received by truck from the state fish hatchery at Hantsdale, and were distributed in Birch Run, Carbaugh's Run, Little and Big Marsh Creek, Tom's Creek, Middle Creek and Conewago Creek, on March 4, 5 and 9.

FORMER LOCAL RESIDENT GIVES $100 TO LIBRARY

A Wilmington, Del., construction company president, who was born and reared in Gettysburg and who "made good" in much the same style as the hero of the Horatio Alger books he devoured here as a youth, has sent the Adams County Free Library a check for $100 with instructions that it be used to buy "books of adventure and accomplishment" for young people.

The donor is Frank N. Overdeer, president of the W. D. Haddock Construction company at Wilmington. He is remembered here as a former resident of Baltimore street. He was born in Gettysburg and attended High street school when it was the only public school in the town.

He is one of the last of a group of Gettysburg boys, including the late William Armor, the late Charles Schick and John L. Schick, now of Edgewater, N. J., who periodically gathered in Gettysburg for get-togethers to renew old contacts with their home town.

Read About Need

Mr. Overdeer's letter follows in part:

"I am a former resident of Gettysburg and a frequent visitor there. To me there is no place more interesting than Gettysburg. I was much pleased to read of the forming of the Adams County Library association. To my mind this is an outstanding accomplishment and bound to bring about good results to a great many people. I see by this week's paper a report by the librarian that you need more juvenile books, which started me thinking about my boyhood days in Gettysburg and how bad we needed something like your library, but this was back in the early eighties. Four or five of us boys formed what would be called now a 'reading circle.' Somehow, one boy or another would get a book, then to expedite matters, we would meet around in each boy's home and take turns reading the book."

"I Want to Help"

Husband Held For Stealing His Own Money

Francis Strausbaugh, Iron Springs, pleaded guilty Tuesday night before Justice of the Peace John H. Bashore to a charge of forgery, was held for the April term of court and released in $1,000 bail for what virtually amounted to stealing back what had been his own money.

Strausbaugh, according to Mrs. Emma Sheffer, clerk of the courts, had been paying $10 a week for the support of his wife. He was charged with obtaining possession of a check for this amount sent by the clerk to Mrs. Strausbaugh, forging his wife's endorsement and another name to the check, and cashing it at a Gettysburg store.

The arrest was made late Tuesday by state police.

Russian Combat Troops Closing On Iran Capital

By JOSEPH GOODWIN

Tehran, Iran, March 13 (AP)—Russian combat troops in full campaign kit were declared by British and other official sources today to have closed within 20 miles of this capital and to be moving southwest across northern Iran close to the borders of Turkey and oil-rich Iraq.

The reports caused Secretary of State James F. Byrnes to announce in Washington last night the dispatch of another note to Moscow demanding an explanation.

This correspondent flew over Karja, 20 miles from Tehran, and counted 14 Sherman tanks, a score of other vehicles and saw half a dozen Red fighter planes at Kazvin to the north.

Littlestown ANNIVERSARY IS MARKED BY ROTARY CLUB

The Littlestown Rotary club observed its 18th birthday anniversary at the weekly meeting Tuesday night in Schott's banquet hall.

The club was founded on March 13, 1928, through the efforts of the Gettysburg Rotarians. The first meeting was held at Schott's with 23 members, eight of whom are still active. They are the Rev. David S. Kammerer, Luther D. Snyder, Stanley B. Stover, Dr. Howard A. Stone, Roy D. Knouse, Albert W. Schott, William V. Sneringer, and Dr. J. R. Riden.

The candles on the large birthday cake Tuesday evening were lighted by Secretary L. D. Snyder, and were blown out by Squire Howard G. Blocher, the oldest member. The youngest member is R. J. Kenworthy. A history of Rotary was given by Harry Irvin, who stated that the organization was founded February 23, 1905, in Chicago, where Paul Harris, the founder of Rotary, and five other small businessmen who had come to Chicago from small towns, held a meeting on that date.

The first club outside the United States was founded in 1909 in Winnipeg, Canada. At the convention on the 25th anniversary of Rotary in Chicago, there were 11,000 members. In 1945 there were 5,676 clubs in 50 nations with a combined membership of 261,750 members.

The Rev. David S. Kammerer spoke on the history of the Littlestown club, which was Club No. 2,833. He noted the four principles of Rotary: club service, vocational service, community service, and international service.

A trumpet solo was given by Harry Irvin, accompanied on the piano by George Smith. Mr. Irvin's numbers were: "Zarada Polka" by Frank Lose, and "Sextet from Lucia di Lammermoor" arranged by E. F. Goldman. There were three visitors: Dr. Frederick Tilberg, Gettysburg; Joseph Harner, Westminster; and Paul Kammerer, son of the Rev. D. S. Kammerer, who was recently released from the service. The anniversary meeting was in charge of (Please Turn to Page 2) declared today that no agreements were reached. Reports reaching this troubled capital told of Russian combat troops entering the towns of Mianeh, Maragheh and Miyandab close to the southern end of Lake Urmia near the Turkish and Iraq borders.

Russian troops were obligated by international agreement to have withdrawn by March 2. Instead, there were reports of large Red Army reinforcements moving into Iran.

A British Foreign Office spokesman in London said that government has received reports of "considerable" Russian troop movements toward Tehran and the Iraq frontier.

The British expressed concern over the continued presence of Russian troops in Iran and said the new troop movements were noted as early as March 4.

COUNTY COUPLE AND DAUGHTER ARE INDICTED

Three Orrtanna R. 1 residents were indicted Tuesday afternoon by the Federal grand jury at Scranton, according to an Associated Press dispatch from that city.

The three, Byron J. Cease, 44, his wife, Mrs. Byron (Lovell) Cease, 37, and their daughter, Pearl, 19, are charged with aiding two German prisoners of war to escape from the prison camp at Gettysburg last January.

The federal grand jury heard the Cease case on Monday afternoon when an FBI agent who took part in the investigation which led to the arrest earlier this month was understood to have been the only person to testify before the jury. No announcement was made of the decision of the grand jury until late Tuesday afternoon when the jury presented its report.

The three were arrested on warrants issued by United States Commissioner Horace G. Ports at York and were given a hearing before the commissioner March 4. They were released then on $1,000 bail each to appear at Scranton.

Caught After Three Days

At the time of the hearing Special FBI Agent H. B. Fletcher, Philadelphia, said that the Ceases had given food, clothing and assistance on January 4 and 5 to two German prisoners of war, Hans Herman Harloff and Bernhard Wagner, who had escaped from the Gettysburg prisoner of war camp.

Fletcher said that the two escaped prisoners had met Mrs. and Miss Cease while working in a canning factory at Orrtanna and after their escape went to the Cease home.

Fletcher said the prisoners had been told by the Ceases of a vacant house near the Cease property where they could hide and that the Ceases gave food to the prisoners while they were at the vacant house. On January 5, the FBI agent declared, Cease transported the two prisoners from Orrtanna to a spot near another place of hiding near Zora where the prisoners were apprehended by FBI, state police and military personnel on January 7.

REYES CONCERT CLIMAXES FINE SEASON SERIES

Gettysburg's 1945-46 concert season was brought to a fitting climax and an unquestionable success with the exceptionally fine program given by Angel Reyes, brilliant Cuban violinist, at Brua chapel on the college campus Tuesday evening.

Mr. Reyes won the enthusiastic approval of his large audience from his first number, and delighted the crowd with a trio of familiar encores at the conclusion of his concert, Shuman's "Ave Maria," Kreisler's "Caprice Viennoise" and Brahms' "Walse."

Mr. Reyes opened his concert with the "Fugue in A Major" which provided an excellent vehicle for his technique. His second number, "Air for G String," an aria transcribed from one of Bach's suites for orchestra, provided an excellent number for both the violin and the piano accompanist. He followed this with the Kreisler arrangement "Rondo" from the orchestral score of the so-called "Haffner Serenade," by Mozart.

Outstanding Number
The allegro molto appassionato, the andante and the allegretto non troppo—allegro molto vivace of the "Concerto in E Minor" only violin concerto written by Mendelssohn, and often called "the perfect violin concerto" was one of the outstanding numbers on Mr. Reyes' program.

Archie Black was Mr. Reyes' very capable accompanist, giving him excellent support throughout the concert, and rendering two numbers of his own playing, "Intermezzo in A Major" and "Intermezzo in C Major" by Brahms.

These solos were followed by "Spanish Dance," by George Coblen, an American composer. A Cuban version of the Spanish Zapateado, "Zapateo," and "Caprice," by Camille Saint-Saens, concluded the program.

Each of the various numbers presented were difficult compositions, and Mr. Reyes' rendition of them marked him as an outstanding musician. His Gettysburg audience will watch with interest his rise in the musical world.

RESERVES DECISION

Decision was reserved until tonight by Justice of the Peace Robert P. Snyder, following a hearing Tuesday night in the case of William H. Dubbs, Jr., rear of Carlisle street, on a charge of aggravated battery and assault. Complainant is Jeanne Sterner, Gettysburg R. 2, his sister. Dubbs was released following his arrest Sunday in $500 bail.

Shields, North Washington street.

Good Evening

There is strife on as many fronts as last year: Europe, Asia and at home.

CHRISTIANITY IS HUMILITY, NOT PRIDE SAYS COUNTY LAWYER

The following is the complete text of the address "Christianity and the Front Page" by Attorney Leighton C. Taylor, of Bendersville, at the Religion-in-Life Conference at Gettysburg college this afternoon:

By LEIGHTON C. TAYLOR

The topic assigned to me, if I interpret it correctly, has to do with Christianity's attitude toward the Front Page, or, in other words, toward the many problems now confronting the world and pressing for solution. Of course, if Christianity, with 72,000,000 professed Christians in the United States alone, were practiced according to the precepts of Christianity's founder, the Front Page would take care of itself and there would be no necessity for this discussion.

What I have tried to do in the preparation of my remarks, (and it may be that I have missed the point you had in mind when giving me this particular assignment), has been to stress the idea that we have wandered too far from sound basic principles in both temporal and religious affairs. In our temporal affairs, our government, for example, we need to cast aside political and economic fallacies and get back to the Constitution and the Bill of Rights; but, in a much broader sense, the great overshadowing question with which we and the entire human race must deal before it is forever too late, is how to get back to God. The sooner we begin this crusade the sooner the world will right itself.

Religion of Christians

"Christianity and the Front Page." What is Christianity? Christianity as I understand it is the religion of Christians. And what is a Christian? My commentary tells me that a Christian is one who believes in Jesus Christ, and the truth as taught by Him, and what were the truths taught by him? The sum and substance of what He taught are embodied in His reply to the lawyer who propounded this query.

"Master, which is the great commandment in the law?" Jesus said unto him, "Thou shalt love the Lord thy God with all thy heart, and with all thy soul, and with all thy mind. This is the first and great commandment. And the second is like unto it, Thou shalt love thy neighbor as thyself. On these two commandments hang all the law and the prophets."

The glory of Jesus is, that he welded indissolubly these two great fundamental commands which had long been held apart. To him they were the pivotal points of the new religion. He stands unique among men, not only as the one who linked the two together, but as the first to incorporate them into his life, thus making them the primal laws of his every action.

When love is analyzed we find it contains the elements of admiration, reverence, the desire to possess, and the will to benefit. These elements are not always present in the same degree or at the same time. But in all genuine love of God there is true reverence and awe in which all the faculties of personality unite; there is also a yearning to possess more of His spirit and a strong desire to be at His service. To the Jews the word NEIGHBOR usually meant fellow Jew. Our Savior, as in the parable of the good Samaritan, expanded the word neighbor so that it came to include any child of the human race, however lowly and despised. For him, neighbor is anyone who needs our help. Likewise, he who renders the help is neighborly.

Now, with the world still shaking and bewildered from the terrific impacts of war and the forces of death and destruction, what is the Christian's duty? An observation by the late Bishop Freeman, of the Episcopal church, impresses me particularly, and in my judgment, answers the question fully and concisely.

The Bishop said: "Obviously, the Christian's first duty is to be loyal, not only in word but in spirit to Jesus Christ." As a layman, I entirely agree with the good Bishop. Above all we must remain true to the Master. With so many un-Christian forces rampant throughout the world, now is the time of all times for Christians to hold the line. We cannot catch hold of the world situation with one grip and change it, but we can help if we will practice the Christian virtues, each in his own sphere, as we have never practiced them before, so that Christianity will be constantly demonstrating itself and may have its utmost leavening effect.

Serve The Master

If we are to save the world for Christ a good place to start is right here at home, and a good way to begin is to resolve that we will give our lives in all sincerity to the Master. Shakespeare, in the Merchant of Venice, said:

LIFE GOES ON AMID EUROPE'S RUINS OF WAR

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
(AP World Traveler)

Vienna, March 13—Present day life in this city is a study in contrasts. The ruins of the old city are still visible in the minds of most folks and the destruction wrought in the late conflict certainly goes far towards substantiating that idea, but it is amazing to see how life flows on and cuts new channels for itself amidst the ruins of Europe.

Mrs. Mack and I had that impression on our again during our trip here from Switzerland by train, for the curious mixture of people who fight for places on the crowded Vienna express and the country through which it passes give a cross section of this Austria which is trying to reassert itself. There were on the train refugees returning with their few belongings in Alpine packs which they carried aboard on their shoulders, and this I take it tells of longing for what once was home and a hope that fortune will deal kindly with the motherland.

Along with them was an entirely different class which also radiated not only hope but confidence and a determination to get the best out of a bad situation. They were the tanned young men and women skiers who seize every opportunity to pursue their favorite sport in the Tyrol.

A Few Profiteers
There were a few obvious war profiteers who travel back and forth making a profit out of their country's suffering, and there were honest tradesmen who still believe in Austria and are taking a hand in her reconstruction.

There were, of course, the inevitable army officers, for at one time or another during the 24-hour journey you will encounter British, American, French and Russians. There also were numerous UNRRA workers of various nationalities, representing humanitarian efforts to help the fallen country.

The trip into the occupied zones of Austria is filled with thrills and some anxiety. Not only do civilian passengers have to carry passports, which are up to date in every detail, but both civilians and military have to provide themselves with permits to pass through the American, French and Russian control zones.

Permits Important
Forget one of these permits and you are in for trouble. The Americans took a man and woman off our train, but whether it was for lack of permits or for some other reason wasn't made known.

Examination of permits goes on through the night and it was about 4 o'clock when the Russians went through the train. It was a tense time, for they accept no arguments in place of correct permits.

You begin your trip amidst the grandeur of the Alps and for hours run through country untouched by force. There is nothing visible to indicate that this is part of a defeated nation. Gradually, however, you begin to note bridges which have been destroyed by bombing and then as you come into the industrial areas there are towns and cities which have suffered heavily.

On Way To Recovery
Vienna is in a shocking state of destruction from bombs and gunfire, but the devastation is nothing like so complete as it is in Berlin and in many other German cities we have visited. Many of its fine buildings can be restored.

Mrs. Mack and I are housed in what was one of the capital's foremost hotels, which is now used by the American Army. Half this hotel was destroyed but the other half is still its luxurious self. From the windows of our quarters we look across to the city opera house, which is heavily damaged but which last night was able to provide facilities for an opera.

Austria and its capital will take long to recover, but they are on their way.

COUNTY BALL LEAGUE ADDS M'SHERRYSTOWN

McSherrystown was admitted as the eighth team in the Adams County Baseball league here Tuesday evening with the newly-formed loop then voting to begin a 21-game schedule for the eight-squad circuit on Saturday, April 27.

Teams in the league include McSherrystown, Emmitsburg, Fairfield, Arendtsville, Orrtanna, Benderville, Bonneauville and Littlestown.

July 4 was set as the date for completion of rosters with one exception. Men who return from the armed forces after July 4 may be admitted as players upon forwarding of their names and date of discharge to the league secretary.

No team, the league decided, may have more than 25 players on its roster at any time.

The American league baseball rules were adopted with several exceptions which were adopted as by-laws by the loop. No limit was placed on the distance a player may live from the home town of the team with which he is playing, but no player once signed can play for another team in the league without a written release from his original manager.

Pros Ruled Out

Prior to July 4 the name of any player who is signed by a team must be in the hands of the secretary three days before the player can take part in a game. No professional player under contract can play in the county league, the group voted.

Other by-laws included: In the event of rained out games the game will be played on agreement of the two managers. However, if the contest is not held within two weeks the president of the loop will designate the date for the game.

Each club is to furnish an umpire with the visiting umpire acting as umpire-in-chief and serving behind home plate. All games will begin at 2:30 p. m. and the Reach No. 9 ball will be the official ball of the league.

Playoff For Title

Umpires can fine players only $5 for any violations instead of the $25 provided under the American league rules. A Shaughnessy playoff was voted for the final determination of the league champion at the end of the season. The first-place team playing the third and the second-place team the fourth in three-game playoffs. The winners of those two semi-final playoffs will meet in a three-game competition to determine the loop title. The proceeds of the series will go to the home team with the exception of the third game in each series which will be played on a neutral field with the two teams dividing the proceeds 50-50.

Porter money was deposited with the treasurer at Tuesday's meeting. The amount was placed in the Littlestown State Bank in the name of the Adams County Baseball league with the treasurer and secretary named as withdrawing officers.

The trophy to be awarded the league champions will be donated by Shenk and Tittle of Harrisburg, it was announced.

The complete schedule of games will be presented at the March 26 meeting of the league for final adoption, league officials stated.

CARDS SHOWING PENNANT FORM DESPITE LOSSES

By GAYLE TALBOT

St. Petersburg, Fla., March 13 (AP)—Though the St. Louis Cardinals dropped their first three exhibition games to the Yankees over the past week-end, Manager Eddie Dyer's young men still made a vivid impression on the overflow crowds of fans, scouts and writers who attended the series.

It might be stretching a point to bill the games as a preview of the 1946 world series, but nothing the Cards did lessened the impression that they would represent the national league in the October play-off.

What they ran into was a Yankee team that, with one or two individual exceptions, could open the American league campaign tomorrow.

Sanders On First

One of the Dyer's problems, at least, appeared to have been solved very quickly. Ray Sanders will be back on the first base, even though he hit only .276 last season and the club could use a lot more power at that spot.

The balance of the Cards' lineup is set, with Emil Verban at second, Marty Marion at short and George Kuroski on third rounding out a crack infield. Kuroski still is holding out. Enos Slaughter, Terry Moore and Stan Musial comprise easily the finest outfield in the league.

RUTGERS BOWS TO LAFAYETTE IN TITLE PLAY

Bethlehem, Pa., March 13 (AP)—Lafayette college today held the first annual Middle Conference basketball title by virtue of its easy 52-39 triumph over Rutgers university.

A crowd of 2,800 jam-packed Lehigh university's Grace hall last night to see the Maroon overcome a 15-9 Rutgers lead early in the first quarter and win going away. It was Lafayette's 17th win this season, against three defeats.

Muhlenberg chalked up win No. 22 in defeating Ursinus college, 67-30, in the opening game for the conference's consolation playoff. The Mules were defeated 59-58 in an extra period by Lafayette Monday.

Lafayette's triumph was the third over Rutgers this season. It was worth a plaque to the college, wrist watches for the players and the title of Pennsylvania's "coach of the year" to Maroon Mentor Bill Anderson.

Share Scoring Honors

The New Brunswick, N. J., five stayed even with Lafayette for the early part of the first period, then forged to a 15-9 advantage before the Leopards got going with a vengeance. Lafayette scored seven points in the last two minutes of the first half to take a commanding 25-19 advantage. The Maroon was never headed after that, though Rutgers crept to within two points—34-32—as the third quarter ended.

Andy Skvoretz, Lafayette captain, and Rutgers eagle-eyed George Macaronis tied for scoring honors with 14 points each. Martin Zippel, of Lafayette, with 11 points was the only other player to tally more than 10 markers.

Oscar Baldwin dropped 21 points through the hoop to pace the Muhlenberg scoring parade. The Mules, who have lost only three times this season—twice to Lafayette, and once to Temple—play in the national invitation tournament, Saturday night at New York's Madison Square Garden.

Training Camp Briefs

(By The Associated Press)

Sarasota, Fla., March 13 (AP)—Manager Joe Cronin, puffed up a bit by his Boston Red Soxers' 1-0 win over the St. Louis Cardinals, popped at least one seam when Eddie Dyer, the Cards' new pilot, advised him that the Yankees are considerably ahead of his charges at this early stage.

Fort Lauderdale, Fla., March 13 (AP)—After using 19 players, including all of his standouts, and getting only five hits out of them against the Philadelphia Phillies, Manager Billy Southworth vows his Boston Braves will get double batting drills daily until they break camp.

West Palm Beach, Fla., March 13 (AP)—Connie Mack, manager of the Philadelphia Athletics, said today that there is "no chance" that he will trade Pitcher Russ Christopher to the New York Yankees, though admitting he had "offered them a good trade for Outfielder Johnny Lindell." The A's manager was reported to be after the Yankees' George Stinewiss earlier, but now says "there is no possible chance of the Athletics doing business with that club."

St. Petersburg, Fla., March 13 (AP)—With Joe DiMaggio and Charley Keller setting a hot pace, the New York Yankees are looking like the Bronx Bombers of old. Jolting Joe has a 404 batting average, seven home runs and has driven in 22 runs. Keller is clouting at a .339 clip and has hit safely in all of the Yanks' 15 exhibitions to date. DiMaggio banged out three hits, including one of the Yanks' three homers in the 12-1 triumph over Detroit yesterday.

Miami Beach, Fla., March 13 (AP)—Schoolboy Rowe, once pride of the Detroit Tigers mound staff, is showing flashes of his oldtime form with the Philadelphia Phillies this spring. Yesterday he served up a full assortment of screwballs, knucklers and even a few fast ones in limiting the Boston Braves to two blows in his three-inning chore. Rowe, who is 32, spent two years in the navy.

HORNSBY WARNS OF MEX MONEY

By JIMMY JORDAN

Chicago, March 13 (AP)—Rogers Hornsby says any baseball player who jumps a contract in this country's organized baseball to play in the Mexican league is courting a lot of trouble, financial and otherwise.

The "rajah" should know. He's been down there. He didn't stay long, but he said he stayed long enough to find out.

"Until that league gets a contract with the national association (which includes all professional clubs in the United States and those in Canada) affiliated with leagues that also operate in this country, a player is foolish to go down there," Hornsby said in an interview here today.

Get Standoff

"They didn't pay off my contract on time. They paid in Mexican dollars, pesos, which have much less value than our dollars, and the player had no protection."

Hornsby, who managed the Vera Cruz team for Jorge Pasquel for 90 days in 1944, said he left when "I kept getting 'manana' (tomorrow) for an answer when I tried to collect the rest of my contract."

Today's Talk

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS
SOMETHING ELSE THERE

If I correctly recall, it was Bliss Perry who once made the statement that no painter of Abraham Lincoln had ever succeeded in portraying the real Lincoln—"there was something else there."

Too many painters seek to get a "likeness." This is what a photograph produces. But the great artist seeks for something else, something that he rarely, if ever, attains—the soul of the sitter. It is easier to get the something else from a flower!

Abraham Lincoln would have smiled at flattery. You can't flatter character. You can, however, fail to fathom its worth and its grandeur. Painters all too often search for another objective.

Not long ago I spied, in an exhibition, a sketch of Jo Davidson, by his wife. The moment I looked upon it I said: "That's Jo Davidson!" It was, you see, his wife knew him, loved him, and had put "that something" into her sketch that most artists fail to get. There is nothing so difficult to paint as a portrait. It may "look like" the subject, but there is always "something else there" in the make-up of the subject that is elusive and rarely fathomable. I think Sargent got it in his great full-length painting of Edwin Booth, which now hangs in the clubhouse of The Players, in New York; also in his painting of Joseph Jefferson, as "Bob Acres." But what a rare achievement!

I have never looked upon a portrait of Washington that made me feel the greatness of the man, no matter how perfect the technique. In George Grey Barnard's "Lincoln" and in Rodin's "Victor Hugo" that "something else" is there. And you will sense it in that magnificent bronze of "Walt Whitman" by Jo Davidson.

We are cemented to those friends of ours who make no display but who have that "something else there" that we adopt as our own, because that same something is what we ourselves own and feel instinctively. I once read that a painter with an unclean mind could not paint a pure face. The artist, like the poet, becomes great only as he is able to execute, or write, the "something else there."

Bounties On Fox

Set All-Time Mark

Harrisburg, March 14 (AP)—Hundreds of trappers and hunters today are making heavy inroads into Pennsylvania's fox population, the state game commission reports.

The commission said official state county payments for the first nine months of the fiscal year (June 1, 1945 to February 28, 1946) have already exceeded the all-time record year of 1921-22 when a total of $134,322 was expended.

Officials said almost 37,000 foxes have been taken in that period. Nearly half of these were either killed or captured alive in 15 counties, with Tioga heading the list with 1,870 and Susquehanna next at 1,842.

News Of Interest To Upper Communities Of County

SAYS FRUITMEN FINANCIALLY IN GOOD CONDITION

Farmers and fruit growers of Upper Adams county are entering the post-war period in better shape financially than they have been at least since the first World War and possibly have reached an all-time high as far as liquid assets are concerned.

That's the opinion of an upper countian, who refused the use of his name but who is in a position to know the many details of the financial condition of his section.

On top of the present excellent situation of the fruit growers and farmers is the fact that—barring disaster to the fruit and other crops prices should be fairly high this year, he adds.

Foreign Needs
Last year's crop of fruit, he points out, was light and precludes the possibility of any great holdover in processed fruit. Besides the slight holdover in processed foods the cold storage houses of the nation are about emptied of apples and other fruits. He backs up his figures with a Federal-State Crop Reporting Service announcement that cold storage warehouses in the state on February 1 held only 367,000 bushels of apples as compared with 1,527,000 bushels on the same date last year.

In addition there will be the tremendous need for food for Europe and Asia with U. S. Government officials in Germany claiming that "next winter will be worse than the present winter in the matter of lack of food."

On top of that, he adds, is the government guarantee of parity prices which means that in a high price market for farm equipment and supplies fruit and other prices will remain high by government fiat.

Expect Good Crop
He looks for a better fruit crop this year, basing his predictions on the fact that improved spraying methods have been discovered and more effective spray materials are available. Hence, he argues, the quality of the fruit should be higher in 1946 than it was in 1945. Trees, he believes, "will be in better shape this year due to the open winter which allowed for more thorough pruning than in previous years."

The recent warm spell he adds did nothing to damage the crop because it did not last long enough to push the buds too far and the colder weather recently has not been so bitter as to destroy those buds which may have progressed further than the average.

Continuing his survey of the current situation in upper county areas he added that "farms for sale are scarcer now than at any time during the last 15 years and while prices are somewhat inflated," he holds that they are not "dangerously so" yet. The demand for farms, as well as other real estate still continues to exceed the supply, a condition which he feels will continue for some little time to come.

As to farm finances, he points out that the war period has been very lucrative for farmers in general "and fruit growers in particular. The farms are in a more liquid financial situation at the present time than they have been since the first World War. Farm borrowing both for real estate purchasing and current crop financing is probably at an all-time low and farm mortgages are being paid off in a fraction of the time previously required. In most cases the farmers are well fortified with cash to meet any contingency—either adverse economic or unfavorable weather conditions. The county's banks are all cooperating to an unprecedented extent with farmers in order that the maximum profits can be realized from farm operations and the maximum financial security may be achieved. The farmers in the upper part of the county are depending more and more on local banks for advice and firm financing needs and less and less on government and other agencies," he added.

As to farm finances, he points out that the war period has been very lucrative for farmers in general "and fruit growers in particular. The farms are in a more liquid financial situation at the present time than they have been since the first World War. Farm borrowing both for real estate purchasing and current crop financing is probably at an all-time low and farm mortgages are being paid off in a fraction of the time previously required. In most cases the farmers are well fortified with cash to meet any contingency—either adverse economic or unfavorable weather conditions. The county's banks are all cooperating to an unprecedented extent with farmers in order that the maximum profits can be realized from farm operations and the maximum financial security may be achieved. The farmers in the upper part of the county are depending more and more on local banks for advice and firm financing needs and less and less on government and other agencies," he added.

nothing to damage the crop because it did not last long enough to push the buds too far and the colder weather recently has not been so bitter as to destroy those buds which may have progressed further than the average.

Continuing his survey of the current situation in upper county areas he added that "farms for sale are scarcer now than at any time during the last 15 years and while prices are somewhat inflated," he holds that they are not "dangerously so" yet. The demand for farms, as well as other real estate still continues to exceed the supply, a condition which he feels will continue for some little time to come.

COUNTIANS BUSY IN CAMPUS LIFE

Upper Adams countians who are students at Shippensburg State Teachers' college have been active in a number of fields, press releases from the college disclose.

Miss Louise Singley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl W. Singley, Arendtsville, is one of the two representatives from the Epsilon Epsilon chapter of Kappa Delta Pi of the college attending the national convention of Kappa Delta Pi at Milwaukee which was scheduled to end today.

Ernest W. Brindle, son of the Rev. and Mrs. Ernest W. Brindle, Biglerville, took part in a field trip to Altoona March 6 as a member of Beta Lambda chapter of Pi Omega Pi, national honorary scholastic business education fraternity, where the students studied the municipal accounting system of Blair county.

Brindle was recently initiated into the Pi Omega Pi at a special program at which Dr. Levi Gilbert, president of the college and a veteran of both world wars, was the speaker. Also attending the meeting was Miss Ruth Mundis, Gettysburg high school teacher who is a member of the organization.

Evelyn M. Taylor, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles L. Taylor, Biglerville R. 1, as historian for the sophomore class, will be among those in the receiving line at the annual sophomore dance to be held Saturday at Shippensburg State Teachers' college.

FLIGHT HOSTESS JOBS OFFER GIRL WORLD TRAVELS

By HAL BOYLE—

Cairo, (AP)—American girls looking for an interesting post-war career might take a tip from Gladys Entekim, who is talent scouting for flight hostesses to fly the world air lines.

Gladys, who is chief hostess of TWA's international division, is one of the original "glamor girls of the clouds" and is still going strong after 10 years of shepherding nervous passengers across the skyways.

Since she joined the first TWA hostess class late in 1935 she has spent more than 8,000 hours of her attractive life in the air and flown some 1,500,000 miles. That's equivalent to 60 voyages around the globe or six round trips to the moon.

Pretty As A P-38
"I am the only one of that original class left," she said. Most of the rest became casualties—to marriage.

Most hostesses stay about one year in the service before they leave to the lure of the wedding ring. And contrary to popular belief, the majority of them don't marry pilots. The pilots generally already have set up housekeeping.

Gladys is petite, blue-eyed and dark-haired, and had to stand up very straight to make the old airline minimum of five feet one inch to get her first job. She weighed 98 pounds then. Now she is up to 122, but no unbiased observer would say it was a pound too much. She is pretty as a P-38.

Today Gladys would have difficulty in landing a job as flight hostess, because with the advent of sleeper planes they looked for taller girls. They want them from five feet two to five feet six inches now, with a top weight of 130 pounds. Other qualifications are a nurse's certificate or one year of college training, pleasant disposition and ability to dress neatly. Starting pay is 150 bucks monthly, and raises come regularly.

Served With Air Corps
Girls average about 85 hours a month in the air—more in summer when schedules are heavier, and less in winter. Gladys says fear of accidents affects them little after the first few flights. She herself has never been in an emergency landing. She is a native of Coatesville, Pa., and took up flying after gaining experience as a nurse in a Philadelphia hospital.

During the war she served as a flight nurse in the Army Air Corps and rose to the rank of captain. She was stationed for 20 months at Natal, Brazil, but never had time to see Europe or Africa until she undertook her present "looksee" trip.

"We have 43 hostesses operating in overseas flights now," she said. "Some have been as far as Iran, but most still fly between the United States, Ireland and Paris."

Boy Friend Complications
Gladys thinks hostessing on domestic airlines is a "cut and dried" proposition compared to overseas flying, and believes the new jobs offer girls the prospects of interesting adventure as well as a chance to see the world on the cuff.

"It's a liberal education for any girl," she said. "They get a 200-hour course in conversational French and other special training. They also have an opportunity to see any country through which our routes extend."

At present she is recruiting all her hostesses from the domestic service, on a seniority basis, because she thinks girls should have experience in traveling before serving

Income Tax Facts

The following is one of a series of 15 brief articles explaining, in question and answer form, how to fill out your federal income tax return.

(Editor's note: This is the thirteenth of a series of 15 brief articles, in question and answer form, explaining how to fill out your federal income tax return.)

Q. If my tax return shows a balance of tax due, when must it be paid?

A. If you file your Withholding Receipt as a return, wait for the Collector to send you a bill, which must be paid within 30 days. If you file Form 1040, full payment must accompany your return.

Q. Can I pay this balance of tax in installments?

A. No. Under the pay-as-you-go system, you are supposed to have paid up substantially all of your tax by withholding and estimated tax installments prior to filing your return. Therefore no provision has been made for installments on the balance.

Q. Suppose I am entitled to a refund. How do I arrange it?

A. If you file your withholding Receipt as a return, the Collector will send your refund without further action on your part. If you file Form 1040, put a checkmark in the box under Item 9, Page 1 which indicates you want your overpayment refunded to you. The Collector will send you a check without further action on your part.

Q. Assuming I am entitled to a refund, how long will it take for the check to reach me?

A. Several million refunds have already been made. You probably will have yours before the Fourth of July. You can expedite your refund by making sure your return is accurate, complete, and signed.

Q. Suppose I get a refund, and later a mistake is found in my return. What will happen?

A. All returns are subject to audit and adjustment, and if it turns out that you were not entitled to a refund, you will be required to repay the money with interest.

Patient Survives Pioneering Surgeon

Pittsburgh, March 13 (AP)—Stephen Belanek, 49, of Salem, O., has learned that even the surgeon who put nine stitches in his heart to close a stab wound 27 years ago marveled that the patient survived the operation.

When Belanek came here to mourn the death of the surgeon, Dr. Gustave F. Berg, who had saved his life, the doctor's widow, explaining to Belanek the operation was performed with stitches taken in split seconds, said Dr. Berg did not expect the victim to recover.

Belanek's patched heart has never given him any trouble.

The surgeon died of a heart attack last Friday. Funeral services were held today.

Overseas. But operations are expanding so rapidly that this has become something of a problem.

Her chief obstacles are boy friends. "Most of the girls want to fly overseas," she explained, "but if they're dating steady the boy friends are likely to object. They don't want them to leave the country."

News Of Interest To Upper Communities Of County

SCOUT TROOPS ARE ACTIVE IN UPPER COUNTY

Upper Adams county's Boy Scout troops are rapidly being numbered among the most active of the county's scout organizations. Troops are located at Idaville, Biglerville, Bendersville and Arendtsville. About 75 Scouts make up the four troops.

Idaville's troop, organized three years ago, is the "baby" of the group and Arendtsville now is seeking a scoutmaster. George Inskip heads the Biglerville troop which recently won laurels on its first aid patrol. Ralph Tyson is scoutmaster at Idaville and Bendersville's scoutmaster, Ray Starnier, recently was awarded a medal as outstanding scout in the district.

A recent community night program of the Bendersville troop drew 110 visitors and Scouts to Bendersville. The program included an opening ceremony in which Scouts Charles House and Harold Heacock presented the colors. Scout Paul Bretzman led the group in the Pledge of Allegiance to the flag and Richard Starnier presented the prayer. Gerald Brough read "My Flag" and Richard Starnier read "Who Made the Flag." A candle light service exemplifying the 12 points of the Scout law and oath was presented by 12 Scouts led by Richard Starnier.

Scoutmaster Roy R. Starnier and Scout Donald Bretzman presented a large picture of Abraham Lincoln to the community hall and a series of comical readings were presented by Scouts Donald Bretzman, Mariano Gottuso, Thomas Weaver, Donald Thomas and Robert Peters.

Other Participants
A one-act play entitled "All Because of an Omelette" was presented by George Peters, Gerald Brough, Harold Heacock, Donald Baker and Ronald Kuhn. Another one act play entitled "This is Quite Sufficient" featured Scoutmaster Starnier and Robert Kennedy.

James Unger, Paul Koonitz, Jr., Charles Cook and Charles House took part in a skit entitled "The Missing Umbrella." The final act dramatized a typical campfire program, including songs, stories, jokes and drills. Among the Scouts taking part in the campfire scene were Owen Coble, Richard Starnier, George Peters, Robert Peters, Donald Bretzman, Robert Kennedy, Donald Thomas, Thomas Weaver, Mario Gottuso, Duane Bretzman, Paul Bretzman, Donald Baker, Charles House, Paul Koonitz, Jr., Albert Hoffman, Jr., Harold Heacock, Gerald Brough, Ronald Kuhn, Charles Cook, James Unger and Scoutmaster Starnier. Better Grading Of Spuds Urged

Unless Pennsylvania potato growers do a better job of grading, and practice more orderly marketing by disposing of a larger portion of their crop at digging time, they can expect greater competition in home markets from outside sources, warns R. B. Donaldson, extension agricultural economist of the Pennsylvania State college.

Before the war Pennsylvania growers had made a good start in grading, but in many instances became lax during the war when consumer demand was strong, price regulations in effect, and labor short. He urges rigid grading in disposing of stocks on hand.

Moving rather large volume of potatoes to distributors in the fall contributes to more orderly marketing, and results in higher net return to the grower, he reports.

"Distributors want more of our potatoes in the fall months, and if we are to hold more of our home market outlets during the whole season more of the crop must be moved when needed," he adds.

When it comes to eating quality, he upholds Pennsylvania potatoes as "equal to potatoes from any competing area."

FEED SHORTAGE FORCES CULLING

Closer culling and greater attention to other important management factors are the only solutions to the poultry feed shortage situation, declares F. H. Leuschner, extension poultry specialist of the Pennsylvania State college.

Among suggestions for poultrymen to consider he lists: continuous, close culling to reduce the size of the laying flock; liquidate layers as may be necessary to insure adequate feed for efficient egg production by those retained, and for the new pullet flock; dispose of fowls not capable of bringing highest returns possible from the feed utilized; conserve high protein feeds by using good quality hays, leafy green feeds, and available milk by-products.

Plan good quality pasture, he advises, for young stock to reduce the amount of high protein and vitamin feeds which must be purchased; allow pullets to come into production on range, and lay on range.

INDEPENDENTS OPPOSE SLATED PARTY CHOICES

By L. U. LESLIE

Harrisburg, March 13 (AP)—Organization candidates for major offices in both Republican and Democratic parties faced challenges from independents today with the biggest scramble for the Republican nomination for governor.

When the state election bureau last night stopped receiving nominations for the May 21 primary election, Attorney James H. Duff, the slotted GOP candidate for governor, found three independents opposing him.

They are John U. Shroyer, secretary of highways in Governor Martin's cabinet; Miner Aylesworth, Luzerne county lawyer, and Carl E. Mau, Marcus Hook editor campaigning as a former GI.

Martin To See Shroyer

Shroyer, who conferred over the week-end with the Republican group headed by William H. Harman, Philadelphia industrialist, filed additional nomination petitions a few hours before the deadline. He has said he would not withdraw his candidacy "under any circumstances."

Governor Martin, a member of the organization-slotted group as a candidate for the Republican nomination for U. S. Senate, has conferred twice with Shroyer on his candidacy and said he expected to see him again about it, possibly tomorrow.

On the Democratic side for governor, Col. John S. Rice, Gettysburg, the slotted candidate, was opposed by Henry Arthur Morris, of Mahanoy City.

"Hap" Frank Running

U. S. Senator Joseph F. Duffey, endorsed by Democratic party leaders for a third term, was challenged for the party nomination by County Commissioner James P. "Baron" Dougherty, of Delaware County.

A woman, Mrs. Elizabeth Jordan, Pittsburgh, entered the race, for the Republican senatorial nomination against Governor Martin.

Of the slotted candidates for state-wide offices, two Democrats, State Senator John H. Dent, Westmoreland county, for lieutenant governor and Al Schmid, Philadelphia blind marine hero, for secretary of internal affairs, were without primary opposition.

For lieutenant governor, Col. Daniel B. Strickler, Lancaster, the slotted GOP candidate, was opposed by John R. Cadwallader, Meadville accountant, while J. Calvin Frank, Harrisburg insurance man, entered as a candidate for secretary of internal affairs, against William S. Liversgood, Jr., Somerset, seeking a third term with organization support.

Candidates have until Monday, March 18, to withdraw.

Congress Wary Of Rent Boost Request

Washington, March 13 (AP)—Congress, allergic to election-year hot potatoes, juggled a request Tuesday for a mandatory 15 per cent hike in the general rent level of residential property throughout the nation.

The recommendation was presented to the House Banking Committee by representatives of rental property owners who argued that such a boost is essential in justice to the property owners.

They urged that provision for a compulsory increase be written into pending legislation to continue OPA price controls for another year after June 30.

A spot check of committee members indicated coolness to any such blanket increase, which obviously would affect a host of rent-paying voters.

MYSTERY BLAST NEAR BRADFORD

Bradford, Pa., March 13 (AP)—Citizens today pondered the cause of a forceful midair explosion about two miles east of this petroleum producing city of 19,000.

The consensus after it was learned there had been no powder mill or oil well explosions was that a meteor had disintegrated.

The explosion occurred about 8:52 p. m., rocked buildings in a 10-mile radius, and left behind a gray smoke, a sulphurous odor and some particles which resembled fused metal.

Scores of phone calls from the area flooded public and newspaper offices. A motorist about half way between Kane and Bradford said the explosion shook his car so that the steering wheel was almost yanked out of his hands. R. B. Bromley of Derriek City, 10 miles east of here, said windows shook in his home.

A party of five newspapermen spent several hours driving over Bradford and adjacent sections, trying to locate the center of the disturbance.

Their determinations were that it centralized over a point on Washington avenue extension, two miles outside the city limits, where they said a strong odor of sulphur was evident and residents reported seeing a heavy gray smoke in the air.

CHRISTIANITY

chant of Venice, described vividly the influence which a good deed has in a sinful world; and the Savior Himself gave us the cue for our present day responsibility when He said in the Sermon on the Mount: "Let your light so shine before men that they may see you: good works and glorify your Father which is in heaven."

I like to think of Christianity in these times of cataclysmic woes in its old Biblical sense as a haven. A haven has no usefulness or ef-fect unless it mingles with the mass it is to save. So, Christianity, to be a good haven in a world that so much needs saving, must be of the world and part of the world.

I disagree utterly with some of the ministers and laymen of our churches who contend that Christianity should remain aloof from these great human problems lest it drag the church into politics. Christ had no such squeamishness about the word "politics" when He drove the money changers from the temple.

The church has a divine mission to heal and to save, and it needs to be dragged into every situation, if you want to put it that way, where its healing and saving influence may be exercised. It is far beyond my capacity to attempt to prescribe all that Christians should do in the present world situation, but I think we should, first of all, as Bishop Freeman said, be true Christians, and that we should keep clear in our vision and high in our faith things eternal amid the tempests of things temporal.

Faces Great Task
There is no doubt in my mind that Christianity is confronting its greatest task and its greatest responsibility in the opportunity that is opening before us to reconstruct a new and better world out of the ashes of the recent conflict. The chaos we face is a tremendous challenge to united Christian effort. We must meet that challenge. We must not permit the world to slip into paganism, or into any other non-religiousism. Plans for the cooperation of religious forces all around the world cannot be under-taken too soon.

To cooperate and advise with the United Nations Organization, why not hold a world-wide conference of forward-looking religious leaders at the earliest possible date for the erection of bastions of Christianity so strong and so solid that they will serve as the foundation of a new world order—an order that will restore harmony in human relations, atone for the agonies the world is now suffering, and justify the sacri-fices of our heroic dead.

Since America is so unselfish in its efforts to serve mankind, and since it is the leading Christian nation in which the hope of hu-manity largely rests, Washington, as I see it, would be the logical place for such a conference.

There, I believe, would be found the best environment in which to arouse and direct Christian effort in the mission of world rescue. It may be that the World Council of Churches, organized back in 1938, cation of the atomic bomb is the greatest scientific achievement in human history, but it has brought no joy to the hearts of scientists. Men in laboratories all over the world stand in terror of what science has produced.

Already it is beginning to dawn upon us that men cannot live by power alone. Already we are beginning to understand that power cannot make peace; it can do no more than produce conditions which give peace makers a chance. May I interject here that nothing could be more inconsistent than the effort of the United Nations Organization to establish a permanent and lasting peace, while at the same time our own nation is making elaborate preparations to determine the power of the atomic bomb as an engine of destruction. This in itself implies that down deep in our hearts we have no faith in a permanent peace; that we are really looking forward to another war, and in the vernacular of the street, want to beat the other fellow to it.

Russia and the United States stand today as the most powerful nations in the world. Each is able to put into the field an army of at least 15,000,000 men, fully equipped. Each possesses an almost incredible store of economic resources. Each is as nearly independent and self-sustaining as a nation can be in the modern world. But deep down within the souls of both nations there is a terrible fear of what science may bring forth.

Rediscover Christ

From a wide variety of sources there is coming a surge of confessions. Famous radio commentators are saying: This world needs to rediscover Jesus Christ. Equally famous columnists are, unabashed and unashamedly, pleading for a resurgence of religion in American life. Newspapers, more and more are curtailing space for political comment and allotting it to distinctly religious discussions. Fortune Magazine, the aristocrat of the publishing field, presented in its December issue a bold editorial insisting that Christianity holds the answer to the world's need. Religious subjects and discussions are arousing intense interest everywhere, and among all classes, as witness the report of Town Meeting. Its moderator, Mr. George V. Denny, tells us that a recent religious discussion brought more responses to the Hall by mail and wire than any other subject debated since the founding of this most popular forum.

Far down underneath the swagger and pride with which the average American declares, "The United States is the greatest industrial power on earth," there is a haunting fear, almost to a frustration, that power is not enough.

Can't Live By Power

If American ideals, hopes, traditions, and liberties are to be preserved we must lay hold of something more than mere physical power. It is as though the God of all the universe were saying, "Man cannot live by power alone." To even a superficial observer it must be painfully apparent that all is not well with these beloved United States of ours. At the very moment when every effort of the nation should be turned to the task of reconversion thousands of men are on strike, communications, food supplies, building construction, transportation — a long list of industries are at a standstill. The purses of the workers are being depleted, savings are being exhausted, and a profound bitterness is being engendered. At the same time the consumption of alcohol is soaring to new heights. The divorce courts are jammed with angry men and women; juvenile delinquency is on the increase. American life is fast becoming tawdry and shabby. A disintegration has set in which even the superficial prosperity of war time, and the exultation of military victory cannot obscure. The skill of the American hand, admittedly as great as they are, even when coupled to the assembly line and geared to mass production, are not enough to save us in the crisis that faces us. Something must be done to change the heart of America. The soul of the state is in need of regeneration.

A New Challenge

This is the challenge with which Christianity is confronted and if that something, more than power, is ever supplied to the nation Christianity must supply it; and Christianity never will supply it unless professed Christians truly and sincerely believe in and practice the teachings and precepts of the Master.

It is one thing to believe this and that to be true, and to let it go at that. Christianity, to this type of individual is a sort of sentimental, emotional impulse to be indulged in at suitable and convenient opportunities, but not workable and practicable in every day life. To such a so-called Christian, power, wealth, cleverness that does not stop at falsehood and deception, self-interest and pride—these, and many other human weaknesses, constitute his work-a-day creed. Christians in this category believe in Christianity, but they are like the old farmer who was assured by a book agent that if he would buy the books offered they would tell him a lot of good things to do on his farm, and to which the farmer replied, "Why I don't do half the good things I know now." This kind of Christian does the cause of Christianity more harm than good.

Humility, Not Pride

Turn now to the believer whose convictions are so certain and sincere as to command his absolute obedience. His beliefs are so profound that they command his heart and will as well as his mind, and are the yardstick by which he measures his conduct and his relations with his fellow man. True Christianity means humility instead of pride; strength and peace instead of selfishness and hardness.

Never again will any nation be able to live to itself alone, nor any group within a nation. No man, unless he be a hermit, can live to himself. Nations, groups, and individuals by their own will, or against their will, are linked by threads of energy and steel. The Russians may wish to nurse their separate system and hold aloof. They cannot do it. We cannot do it. Unions cannot. Employers cannot. And so arises the greatest problem of our generation. How are individuals, groups, and nations to meet their responsibilities to one another and still remain free? The solving formula has not as yet been written, but I do not believe that it lies in the exercise of power and coercion, or in the threat thereof. In my judgment there must be a great and increasing growth of cooperation and good will among mankind, and it is here that the leaven of Christianity must play the major role.

If I were a young man, particularly if I were a young minister, desperately concerned about the future of my country and of mankind, and determined to make some contribution to the sum total of human welfare, I would set out with all the power at my command to prepare for effective leadership—a leadership looking toward the placing of none but Christians on guard, and the establishment of true Christianity as the guiding and directing force in human affairs. Thank you.
